

Economic & Community
Development

Presenter Bio

Shannon G. Kettering, ASLA, AICP
Vice President,
Ecos Environmental Design, Inc.

Shannon G. Kettering is a Vice President for Ecos Environmental Design, Inc., a landscape architecture and community planning firm in Atlanta specializing in a comprehensive, systems approach to integrating land, water and community. As supervisor of the Planning Studio, Ms. Kettering manages green infrastructure, multi use trail design and implementation, land use and redevelopment, community visioning and recreational master planning projects at all scales. A certified National Charrette Planner (NCI), Ms. Kettering provides community facilitation on local planning tools and concepts, smart growth development practices, rural conservation planning and sustainable urban design.